SAN DIEGO AGENCY ADDED TO EXEL TRANSPORTATION NETWORK

WESTERVILLE, Ohio (August 20, 2009) – Exel Transportation today announced the addition of a San Diego transportation agency with expertise in serving cross-border markets to its growing transportation agent network offering freight brokerage and transportation management services.

The new San Diego-based agency is led by William Boyer, a 20-year veteran in the transportation and global logistics services industry. Boyer's agency is a full-service logistics solutions provider offering in-house customs brokerage, intermodal, LTL, ground transportation, and warehousing and distribution services.

While based in Southern California, Boyer's agency offers services throughout North America. Areas of special expertise include in-bound and out-bound logistical services to support manufacturing operations along the California – Mexico border, including logistical services for raw material shipments entering through the Ports of Long Beach and Los Angeles.

"We're excited to welcome Bill into Exel Transportation's network of transportation agents," said Todd Thompson, senior vice president and general manager of Exel Transportation. "He brings an important element to our network of agents with his cross-border expertise and unique customer service opportunities from container repositioning to transloading, warehousing and leveraging Mexican import trade relationships."

Boyer most recently served as assistant vice president of U.S./Mexico transportation sales for NYK Logistics Americas (NLA), where he led strategic Mexico border development. Prior to NLA, Boyer worked several executive-level positions with California Multimodal, Inc. (CMI), including director of national accounts and assistant general manager of border operations. At CMI he was tasked with sales, overseeing their rail ramp, cross border and drayage operations.

Raising expectations

“I’m pleased to join the Exel organization, which offers a sophisticated global operation that enables us to expand our services for our customers,” said Boyer. “I look forward to continuing our growth across North America, as well as globally, as part of the Exel team.”

Boyer has received awards for developing innovative logistics and transportation solutions from Sony Logistics Americas, Montgomery Wards Distribution, Burlington Motor Carriers, Hitachi Transport Systems, GST Corporation, Hyundai Translead and the Intermodal Association of North America.
